Event Overview

Your time will be well-invested in this practical evening workshop that will discuss how to:

- Identify what intellectual property is and understand its importance to you,
- Unlock the mysteries of protecting intellectual property,
- Identify intellectual property vulnerabilities,
- Maximize the value of intellectual property, and
- Avoid "mortgaging" your future for short-term gain.

Investors will leave with a practical understanding of how to protect intellectual property and reduce investment risk. Entrepreneurs will be better-prepared to protect and leverage their intellectual property and to obtain capital.

Participation is free. Hors d'oeuvres and beverages will be served.

About the Speakers

Mark Greathouse, managing director of Mid-Atlantic Angels, is an online private equity pioneer, investor, and serial entrepreneur who draws from substantial business experience and expertise (30 years at C-levels) with dozens of enterprises serving domestic and international clients across a broad set of industries.

Kendall Camuti is a business lawyer with Miles & Stockbridge who works closely with clients of all sizes, helping them with their corporate, business and other needs, from starting up to cashing out, and everything between.

Alisa Hurlburt is a business and intellectual property lawyer with Miles & Stockbridge who has significant experience, both in-house and as outside counsel, helping businesses with their corporate, business and intellectual property needs during all stages of the business life cycle.
